Policy Statement

The Center for Academic Integrity (CAI), (a consortium of over 200 colleges and universities around the world), defines academic integrity as “a commitment, even in the face of adversity, to five fundamental values: honesty, trust, fairness, respect, and responsibility. From these values flow principles of behavior that enable academic communities to translate ideals into action. An academic community flourishes when its members are committed to the five fundamental values.” (CAI, Fundamental Values of Academic Integrity, 1999.)

NSCAD University is committed to maintaining academic integrity and honesty in its University community. All members of the NSCAD community are expected to be fully conversant with the academic integrity policy and to behave in a manner in keeping with the principles stated here. To preserve the integrity and value of NSCAD University degrees, all cases of breach of academic honesty will be pursued with diligence.

Reason for Policy

Students at NSCAD are required to comply with standard academic practices in acknowledging sources in all work presented for academic credit. It is the students' responsibility to consult with faculty regarding appropriate methods of acknowledgement. Plagiarism is a serious academic offence that may result in loss of academic credit for an assignment, a mark of F or No Credit in the course and possibly suspension or dismissal from NSCAD University.

Policy Applies to

- All Faculty, Administration, and Students

Who Should Read this Policy

- All members of the University community

Definitions

Appropriation: Contemporary artists often "quote"; "sample" or "appropriate" images/sound/text from visual artists, writers, musicians, archives or pop-culture sources and students should acknowledge the use of such material in their work. Canadian and international copyright laws set boundaries for the allowable use of this material and students can consult with the University Librarian regarding current copyright legislation. Students should always consult with their instructors if they have any concerns about whether such "appropriation" constitutes plagiarism or violates principles of academic or intellectual integrity.

Plagiarism: A student shall not receive credit for work that is not the result of the student's own effort. Infringement of academic honesty by a student subjects that student to serious penalties that may include failure in the course (with or without a notation on the transcript) as well as other sanctions. A student who is in doubt regarding standards of academic honesty in a course or assignment should consult the faculty member responsible for that course or assignment before submitting the work. A student's lack of understanding is not a valid defense to a charge of academic dishonesty. A student's name on any written exercise (e.g., examination, report, thesis, theme, notebook, studio project, computer program, etc.), or in association with an oral presentation constitutes a representation that the work is the result of that student's own thought and study, stated in the student's own words, and produced without the assistance of others, except as quotations, references, and footnotes used to accurately acknowledge the use of other sources (including sources found on the internet).
